

THEY'VE SEEN IT ALL.

Workers across B.C.'s public sector have been on the front lines of a pandemic, floods and fires, and the poisoned drug crisis.

They have kept our families safe and our province working through challenging times.

And they will be critical to building a strong recovery that will protect our communities into the future.

But they're being left behind.

As the cost of living skyrockets, these workers are seeing their pay cheques shrink.

This year, almost 400,000 workers across the public sector who provide the services we all depend on will be at the bargaining table. Some of them are already there.

They deserve a fair deal.

A deal that protects their wages against inflation and supports the strong public services we need to build a stronger B.C. together.

A FAIR DEAL for public sector workers protects us all.
